Examples of Broca’s aphasia:

water . . . man, no woman . . . child . . . no, man . . . and girl . . . oh dear . . . cupboard .
.man, falling . . . jar . . . cakes . . . head . . . face . . . window . . . tap

A less serious case: I eggs and eat and drink coffee breakfast

Examples of Wernicke’s aphasia:

I could if I can help these this like you know . . . to make it. We are seeing for him. That is my father.

An example illustrating the use of vague or general terms in response to requests for information:

I can’t talk all of the things I do, and part of the part I can go alright, but I can’t tell from other people.
